THE AUDITORIUM.

This week, the same as former ones, this popular little playhouse comes forth with a most attractive vaudeville bill which from start to finish holds the closest attention of its audience. Each act is one of exceptional merit in its own line and brings forth well deserved applause. The Laughing Horse has the audience actually roaring with laughter and it is without doubt the funniest act and only one of its kind that ever played this house. West and Henry, who present Live and Let Live in a most capable manner, have the house with them from the start. The sketch is original, interesting, and texches a lesson in such a way that all those who see it will never ing, and teaches a lesson in such a way that all those who see it will never forget. It is worked up nicely, runs smoothly, and terminates with a strong climax. Matrimonial Difficulties, a pleasing offering presented by Miss Selma. Von Moltke and Mr. Herbert Frank, held the audience in good humor. The clever playist is well handled, full of life and action and was formerly used by Henrietta Crossman and Kyrle Bellew as a curtain raiser. Miss Von Moltke and Mr. Frank use every line to advantage in this entertaining sketch and are meeting with teining sketch and are meeting with success everywhere. The motion pic-tures are fine

I have a few shares of stock of the United Butchers' Supply Corporation, incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and doing a cash business. I believe this stock will pay dividends of more than 10 per cent, on every dollar you invest in it. The corporation owns and controls valuable patents. The reason it is placing this stock on the market is to increase the factory space and present capacity. The above is practically a monopoly with no competition.

In a very short while this stock should be worth a great deal more than its par value. It is now selling at $10 par.

This is not a risk. It is a sure thing. The business has existed four years and each day has brought forth a larger increase in its present capacity. Stock to be delivered upon the receipt of subscriptions.

POETRY.

REINCARNATION.

Oh my soul! In that last resting place of my poor Oh my soul!
In that last resting place of my poor clay
Dost share no part, dost heed not deaths dismay.
But leavist thy dead abode and seek'st to find
Where life exists, a nobler heart and mind?
If this be so indeed well worth the strife
Of soul-development in this brief life—Well worth the years of toil's self-sacrifice,
And well to shun when soulless joys entice,
If, in that aftermath of souls, we find Our own soul, dwelling on Eternity—On its unending life, in cestacy;
Then may we strive perfection to attain,
That our clay's loss may be our soul's high gain!
—Catherine Cronin, in October Nautilus.

"TO WORK IS TO PRAY."

Stajues have to be carved,
Gold has to be mined.
With hands and feet the wheat we cat
We sow, and reap, and grind.
Out from the Within,
Cutting away the clay
That clogs Within—dense, heavy Sin;—
We make God, more each day,
Were gold loose on the road.
Could Thought the chisel spare.
Sans goad or load, what would have showed
God in us? Work and Prayer
Wash His first "color" bare;
Reveal His Presence, there.
